KALI

A Series of Contemporary Paintings

From Ancient Vedic Literature there is an expression of God, Divine Mother, called KALI. Mother KALI is that force which destroys evil, removes negativity for the benefit of humankind - often depicted within battle.

Establishing “dharma” or righteousness for both individual and cosmic life, she bestows “Moksha” or liberation. Her looks are fierce, but KALI is the most compassionate of all Goddesses, always acting from a source of love.

How would this be expressed within abstract art?
